Subject No. 92.
Permission to levy octroi in Challakere Municipality.

Summary of discussion.—The town of Challakere was formerly a small village. It is now the head-quarters of a Taluk and has been gradually improving, so much so that, the village site has had to be extended for building purposes. It is a rising Town. The Municipal revenue of this Town only amounts to Rs. 336 per annum which is hardly sufficient for the conservancy of the Town, and the repair of the Town roads and drains cannot therefore be attended to as well as could be desired. Again, in the matter of night-watch, the inhabitants of the Town being unable to attend to it themselves, a proposition to raise subscriptions for the purpose of getting work performed by the Police is under discussion. Another point also requires consideration: the inhabitants of the Town have opened an English school in the town at their own cost. With the view of its being made a Government institution, they petitioned the authorities on the subject and the Education Secretary stated that if half of the cost of the institution could be met from school fees, the other half might be paid by the Municipality and the Government; but the Municipal revenue does not allow of any contribution being made towards the maintenance of the English school. It is therefore prayed that Octroi might be allowed to be levied in this Town as is done in the towns of Davangere, Harihar, Chitaldroog and Hosdurga, when the financial condition of the Municipality would improve and funds would become available for the above mentioned purposes.

Dewan's reply.—The representation will be communicated to the Deputy Commissioner for a report.
